Contents

Preface	ix
Chapter 1. Introduction	1
1.1 Definition of Selfsimilarity	1
1.2 Brownian Motion	4
1.3 Fractional Brownian Motion	5
1.4 Stable Lévy Processes	9
1.5 Lamperti Transformation	11
Chapter 2. Some Historical Background	13
2.1 Fundamental Limit Theorem	13
2.2 Fixed Points of Renormalization Groups	15
2.3 Limit Theorems (I)	16
Chapter 3. Selfsimilar Processes with Stationary Increments	19
3.1 Simple Properties	19
3.2 Long-Range Dependence (I)	21
3.3 Selfsimilar Processes with Finite Variances	22
3.4 Limit Theorems (II)	24
3.5 Stable Processes	27
3.6 Selfsimilar Processes with Infinite Variance	29
3.7 Long-Range Dependence (II)	34
3.8 Limit Theorems (III)	37
Chapter 4. Fractional Brownian Motion	43
4.1 Sample Path Properties	43
4.2 Fractional Brownian Motion for $H \neq 1/2$ is not a Semimartingale	45
4.3 Stochastic Integrals with respect to Fractional Brownian Motion	47
4.4 Selected Topics on Fractional Brownian Motion	51
4.4.1 Distribution of the Maximum of Fractional Brownian Motion	51
4.4.2 Occupation Time of Fractional Brownian Motion	52
4.4.3 Multiple Points of Trajectories of Fractional Brownian Motion	53
4.4.4 Large Increments of Fractional Brownian Motion	54

Chapter 5. Selfsimilar Processes with Independent Increments	57
5.1 K. Sato's Theorem	57
5.2 Gettoor's Example	60
5.3 Kawazu's Example	61
5.4 A Gaussian Selfsimilar Process with Independent Increments	62
Chapter 6. Sample Path Properties of Selfsimilar Stable Processes with Stationary Increments	63
6.1 Classification	63
6.2 Local Time and Nowhere Differentiability	64
Chapter 7. Simulation of Selfsimilar Processes	67
7.1 Some References	67
7.2 Simulation of Stochastic Processes	67
7.3 Simulating Lévy Jump Processes	69
7.4 Simulating Fractional Brownian Motion	71
7.5 Simulating General Selfsimilar Processes	77
Chapter 8. Statistical Estimation	81
8.1 Heuristic Approaches	81
8.1.1 The R/S-Statistic	82
8.1.2 The Correlogram	85
8.1.3 Least Squares Regression in the Spectral Domain	87
8.2 Maximum Likelihood Methods	87
8.3 Further Techniques	90
Chapter 9. Extensions	93
9.1 Operator Selfsimilar Processes	93
9.2 Semi-Selfsimilar Processes	95
References	101
Index	109
