

T_EX by Example

A Beginner's Guide

Arvind Borde

Academic Press Professional

A Division of Harcourt Brace & Company

Boston San Diego New York
London Sydney Tokyo Toronto

Contents

How to use this book.....	vii
The preset format of plain TeX; simple spacing; centering.
Prologue.....	ix
Magnification; adjusting page size and position; paragraphs; page breaks.
Contents.....	xi
Making itemized lists; line breaks.
Introduction.....	1
Basic commands; command characters; typefaces; spacing; mathematics mode; processing the input; errors.
Examples
I. On writing simply.....	21
Displaying text in narrow or broad format; shaping paragraphs.
II. $\sqrt{2}$ is irrational.....	25
Displaying equations; fractions; powers; roots; footnotes.
III. Cauchy horizons.....	31
Set theoretic symbols; blank space inserts for diagrams.
IV. A Spanish interlude.....	35
'Unusual' punctuation; accents; overlap commands.
V. Trapped surfaces in Gödel's universe.....	37
Matrices; aligning equations; indices; partial derivatives; footnotes.
VI. Sunil Gavaskar: a statistical tribute.....	45
Tables.
VII. On zeros of solutions of $\ddot{x} + F(t)x = 0$	53
Derivatives and integrals; aligning equations.

VIII. The many names of Dirac.....	59
Hanging indentation.
IX. From Ramanujan's letters to Hardy.....	61
Details of typesetting equations.
X. Typography.....	65
Typeface styles and sizes.
XI. A letter.....	67
Definitions; letters.
XII. A memorandum.....	69
More definitions; storing variables; loop commands; memoranda.
XIII. A conversation.....	71
Conditional commands; a simple script.
XIV. Fermat's last theorem.....	73
Programming in T_EX.
XV. On boxing.....	75
Arranging material in horizontal and vertical boxes.
XVI. Playing around.....	77
Framing text; shading boxes; other simpleminded effects.
XVII. Scenes from a magazine.....	81
Simple aspects of magazine design.
Acknowledgements.....	87
Font switching; ragged right edges; suppressing hyphenation.
References.....	89
Automatic numbering; lists within lists.
Appendix.....	91
An index and a glossary.
Epilogue.....	161
The input for the input (or, how to cook a book).	