

Contents

Preface	vii
1. Focus of the study	1
1.1 Matching of land use and ownership-property structure	1
1.2 Purpose of the study	8
1.3 Structure of presentation	9
2. Principal aims and motives of land readjustment	11
3. Land readjustment in various countries	18
3.1 Japan	18
3.2 Germany	33
3.3 France	44
3.4 Sweden	54
3.5 Norway	63
3.6 USA	67
3.7 Other countries	72
4. Institutional framework	81
4.1 The role of the public sector in urban development	81
4.2 The balance between public and private interests	84
4.3 The balance between voluntary and obligatory	87
5. Pre-process	90
5.1 Initiators	91
5.2 Actors and strategies	93

5.3	Investigation of feasibility and consequences	95
5.4	Information	98
5.5	Consultation and negotiation	99
5.6	Concluding the pre-process	102
6.	Formal process	103
6.1	Organisation of the participant circle	103
6.2	Process questions	105
6.3	Conclusion of the formal process	113
7.	Post-process	114
7.1	Appeals	114
7.2	Construction work	115
7.3	Other joint measures	117
7.4	Reinstatement measures	119
8.	Profit sharing and finance	121
8.1	Determination of profitability and profit	121
8.2	Profit sharing between public and private participants	123
8.3	Mutual profit sharing between private participants	124
8.4	Finance	128
9.	Conclusions	130
	Appendix 1	137
	Bibliography	141

Pro
 Hith
 devel own l after as to best a
 In r diffic organi subdiv es nor struct
 the de Fa
 many tain ca though tions.
 No more and a strict solutio credit covera
 condon
 View
 Where